Core conclusions !!

Humans, unfortunately, perpetually live in conflicts at various levels.

It is possible for the human mind to be free from conflicts at all levels.

It is the challenge that any person can face and win by himself without going to any philosopher and / or psychiatrist.

Our brain has been conditioned, trained and educated to have problems. It is possible to come out of this situation by and for ourselves. There will then be only technical problems to deal with.

Let us understand, as a burning reality, that we are psychologically the rest of the mankind. And we will not kill other human beings under any pretext.

All conflicts in personal relationship, will be carefully finished, allowing love-compassion to flower. Beauty is, where the 'self' is not. It is possible to bring about this psychological mutation. Then there is that which is eternal.
